Spring Valley 1966

What did the passing year bring to residents of Spring Valley?

As you would expect in a growing community, it brought changes. Most of the changes were good.

Scratching back through the past 52 weeks our editors recalled these items:

JANUARY

The year 1966, started out with a hearing set to discuss the realignment of a section of Highway 94, east of Potrero, which will be a part of the improvement of the new freeway through Spring Valley. Also the then-new Citizen's Association named several new chairmen. Earl Roland was named president.

In the second week the board of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District refused to answer questions regarding the much-publicized Amidon-type teaching at Kempton Street Elementary School.

About mid-January, 30 evening classes were scheduled for Mt. Miguel High School. The Homeland Publishing Co. announced its newspapers would be sent free to servicemen in Viet Nam. Then the S. V. Community Welfare Inc. took part in a drive for new subscribers of the Spring Valley Bulletin. A Spring Valley man received five years probation for three felonies. A move was made to recall three members of the board of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Toward the end of the month a campaign was initiated by the Casa de Oro Businessmen's Association to acquire 100 members. The "William Williams" ambulance fund began to grow.

FEBRUARY

The first week of February and Dr. Carl Hansen, head of the Washington D.C. schools, came to Spring Valley to talk and answer questions regarding the Amidon-type teaching. A "bottomless" S.V. "Go-Go" girl and her employer were scheduled to appear in court for outrageous public decency. They were arrested in January due to her scanty clad dance, but said she would continue to dance, until ordered to stop by the court. The S.V. Woman's Club began to push for street lighting in one section of the Valley.

Later in the month, Spring Valley Fire Chief Frank Berger, was installed as president of San Diego County Fire Chiefs' Association.

The Citizens for Emphasis on Basic Education, announced opposition to the proposed recall of three board members of the LM-SV School District. And board member Dr. William McCandless said he would not resign.

In mid-February, a new citizens group announced support of the three school board members, who were slated for recall. A hearing was set on unification of the several school districts in East County. Bill and Dorothy Doughman, long-time Valleyites, who have moved to Oregon, were honored by the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce for "long and untiring services to the community."

Toward the end of February, the S. V. Fire Department reported lack of interest in the "William Williams" ambulance fund drive.

MARCH

Came March and the Helix Irrigation District announced a water rate increase of about 10 to 20 per cent. And a request of property owner in La Presa for a variance by the County Planning Commission.

The second week and parents of S.V. school children became riled because of a statement by Assemblyman Charles B. Carrigust, chairman of the Calif. Assembly Committee on Education that fifth graders were below the standard of learning.

In mid-March "Jack" Hansen, president of Grossmont Junior College, resigned to accept a post with another Junior College. The County Citizens Council, asked the board of the LM-SV School District to support prayers in the schools. Dr. Cyril Padfield, who resigned from the board in February, was feted by 250 of his admirers.

Toward the end of the month, the S.V. Rotary Club announced it would sponsor the "Miss Spring Valley" contest of 1966. The Mt. Miguel stage band took first place in the Fontana Music Festival. And about that time the S.V. Kiwanis Club paid tribute to Joe Mayfield, a charter member, who had died March 13, 1966.

The last week of March produced four candidates with hopes of being elected to the board of the S.V. Local Fire District. However, the incumbents were reelected.

APRIL

Came April and the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District announced leasing of a building for storing materials. (Continued on Page 3)

NEW TYPE OF VACATION — Mr. and Mrs. Russell Albertson of Lemon Grove, who have thoroughly toured the U.S. on previous vacations, sailed recently on P&O Lines' superliner Oriana for the Fiji Islands. Their Pacific tour

Grossmont Post Office To Die With Postmaster's Retirement

Washington — The Post Office Department Friday (Dec. 30) will merge the 54-year-old Grossmont Post Office into the larger La Mesa Post Office.

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, who recommended the merger, said it will result in annual savings of more than $7,000 but cause no cut-back in services for patrons of the Grossmont station.

The consolidation is timed to coincide with the retirement of George S. Clarke, Grossmont's postmaster for the past 31 years.

Clarke will not be replaced. His responsibilities will be assumed by La Mesa Postmaster Harry V. Wiley.

Van Deerlin pointed out that under the new arrangement mail can still be delivered to the 208 rented boxes in the Grossmont station. But Grossmont, as a postal identification, will not be valid after Friday.

Wiley has notified the Congressman that the La Mesa Post Office will deliver mail to the homes of any box holders who desire such service. Wiley said that all routes in

How It Looked Yesteryear

Editors historically turn a nostalgic eye to yesteryear as the old year, with its joys and its heartaches, draws to a close.

One reason for this backward look is opportunity. Only on anniversary dates and at year's end comes the opportunity to exercise the pleasure of reviewing fate with logic. Most editors scan the news of the columns of their own newspapers and dish up a resume. Such a resume is published in this issue.

Good citizen A. F. Sonka, who has created as much local history as any we know, offered a list of happenings during the year 1948-49—happenings that he thought had an impact on the community. The list gives an unusually informative picture of those days in a surprisingly few items.

The Upper Room
THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
Read 1 Corinthians 12:13-20

Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, saluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God. (Colossians 4:12)

A small boy was putting together a toy. Assorted parts littered the living room floor. His mother chided him for the disorder. Raising an eager, glowing face, he said, "Yes, I know, Mother, but just wait till you see it when it's finished."

There are times when we survey our world with dismay. All seems to be in utter confusion and turmoil. But God has not abandoned it; He is at work and has a perfect plan and vision of how it will be when it is finished. He is the Creator who has the power to bring it to pass.

He is at work now transforming hearts, instilling noble aims and purpose, drawing those who will hear into paths of righteousness and truth. Are we yielding ourselves to Him gladly to be used as He wills? To be a part of His new creation brings "joy unspeakable and full of glory."

Prayer: Our Father, create in us clean hearts and dedicated wills that we may be used of thee to help make effective Thy perfect design for the world. Help us to be faithful in all things and to rely on Thee for wisdom and strength. We humbly ask in the name of our Lord and Master.

Thought for the day: If we could see God's master plan, we would understand the separate parts better.

"Let the favor of the Lord our God be upon us." Psalm 90:17. This is the prayer of the psalmist, and also our prayer as we stand at the close of another year and look into the year ahead. Divine wrath and human guilt are conquered in Christ. God became man in order that the favor of the Lord God might be upon us. If anyone has seen the disparity between the eternal nature of God and the fleeting nature of this life and has thrown himself wholly on the mercy of God and Jesus Christ believing that only here is an answer to the ambiguities of this existence, then the words "Happy New Year" no longer have a hollow ring. Happy New Year—Jesus Christ is our dwelling place for all generations.

GOLDEN TEXT
"God" is the subject of this week's Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "The Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us."

Some persons jump at conclusions but others dig for facts.

Spring Valley Review

In mid-April, Dr. Ted Dixon, associate superintendent of the LM-SV School District, resigned to take a new post with the Cajon Valley School District. The problem of the drainage ditch in Brookside, continued. Then the following week, three persons were killed in S.V. accidents and local beauties were signing up for the "Miss Spring Valley" contest. Near the end of the month the Amidon-type of teaching at Kempton Street Elementary School, was "erased." Dr. Arne Christiansen, a church pastor, was named to the board of the LM-SV School District. Mrs. Rosalie Graham was proposed as president of the S.V. Chamber of Commerce by the nominating committee.

MAY
Early in May, Virginia "Ginger" Crocker, was named "Miss Spring Valley" for 1966. It was announced that a tax increase of 7 cents would go into effect in the Grossmont Union High School District. Local Scouts began preparing for the annual Scout Fair. Later in the month the S.V. Citizens Association opposed the sale of S.V. Chamber of Commerce buildings. And toward the last of the month, a flurry of vehicle accidents, heart attacks and illnesses, kept the ambulance crew of the S.V.F.D. on its toes. And the problem of selling the S.V. C of C property was discussed at the Chamber meeting.

JUNE
The first part of June and Mrs. Rosalie Graham had been elected president of the S.V. C of C. And "Miss Spring Valley," Ginger Crocker, was chosen to enter the "Fairness of the Fair" contest. She was a runner-up. Children with matches made fire problems for the S.V.F.D. Then early in June, a writer pointed out the pitfalls of the school districts unifying. Nevertheless, the unification election drew 21 candidates. And sheriff deputies declared there was considerable glue sniffing among Spring Valley youngsters.

In mid-June, unification of school districts lost by 30 per cent. The S.V. Lions Club elected Bob Todd as president. A faulty water heater and fumes caused $10,000 fire damage to a S.V. house. The County Planning Commission turned down a request for more S.V. apartment houses. Tax bills of local homeowners in the Helix Irrigation District, had boosts of as much as 25 per cent.

JULY
Early in July youngsters continued to keep the S.V.F.D. active. And the S.V. Kiwanis Club observed its fifth anniversary. The following week Stan McClintic, principal at Monte Vista High School, resigned to accept the position of assistant superintendent of Grossmont Union High School District. The Grossmont College board approved a 3 per cent pay raise for teachers. During the latter part of July, the board of the LM-SV School District, approved renting 11 portable classrooms. Deaths of three persons earlier at Jamacha Rd. and Helix St. promoted an investigation by the County.

AUGUST
Early in August personnel of the LM-SV School District were given raises in pay. And the Helix Irrigation District reported it was "In good shape" financially. In mid-August, Postmaster Bill Fitzpatrick disclosed plans for faster mail delivery. The S.V. Historical Society set a time for its fall meeting. About a week later, a S.V. boy killed his step-father, after the parent had been beating the boy's mother. The La Presa-Otay Water District annexed 1,200 acres of Calavo Gardens.

SEPTEMBER
In the first week of September, the S.V. Chamber of Commerce announced a horse show to be held in Lakeside. The event was later cancelled, due to the lack of sponsors. The County announced new, higher tax rates for the area. The S.V. Rotary Club said it would construct a baseball field in the Steel Canyon area for the San Diego Boys and Girls Aid Society.

Mid-September and Noel P. Burch was named principal of Spring Valley Elementary School, to succeed Mrs. Minnie Rushing, who retired. Dr. Herman Rauch, Casa de Oro physician, was elected to membership in the American Academy of General Practice. Latter part of the month, Glenn Murdock, superintendent of the LM-SV School District, had his contract renewed for four years, beginning in July 1967. A group of district residents complained about renewing the contract. A suit for $35,000 was filed in Superior Court as an aftermath of a boy's death in a vehicle accident earlier in the year at Jamacha Rd. and Helix St.

OCTOBER
Early in October, the board of the LM-SV School District was told that class sizes in the district must be cut. Local PTA's began their annual membership drives. S.V. Kiwanis Club prepared for its annual "Pancake Festival." In mid-October, the S.V. C of C endorsed a lighting district. Senior Pals and Gals elected Mrs. Fern Milnor as president for 1966-67. Later the job of cleaning the Brookside ditch was dumped into the lap of the County Engineer.

Late in October clocks were turned back one hour, as Daylight Saving Time was dumped. A S.V. musician was fined $500 for illegally dealing in drugs. NOVEMBER Early in November S.V. firemen readied for the annual Firemen's Ball, with proceeds to go into the "William Williams" ambulance fund. More than $800 was realized from the ball. Area persons helped aid a Lemon Grove leukemia victim. Later in the month more than an inch of rain fell. The S.V. Lions Club awarded a deputy sheriff a plaque for bravery. A woman smoking in bed was the cause of a house damaged at $1,300. Late in November Brookside Mothers group was still arguing the ditch problem. Mrs. Eleanor Howard, secretary at S.V. Junior High School, was elected president of the LM-SV School Employees. Three speakers from La Jolla Town Council told the S.V. Chamber of Commerce how to go about setting up and operating a Town Council.

DECEMBER
In the first week of December no aid seen for the Brookside ditch problem. Heavy rains produced nearly five inches in five days. In mid-December Clyde Jenkins of Helix St., was named to head the 1967 "March of Dimes" campaign in S.V. Barbara Rose of Paraiso St. was named to the cast of the San Diego Youth Ballet.

Tree Project Is Commendable

There are more trees in San Diego County because of a thoughtful promotion by a San Diego firm.

John Burnham and Co., a 75-year old real estate, insurance and mortgage firm has caused more than 1,150 trees to be planted.

The idea is that of Tom L. Crist, manager of the firm's loan servicing department who decided to provide each residential mortgage client with a tree at the closing of escrow arrangements.

Each tree is recorded and the client is requested to send in a card supplied by Burnham, noting the place and date the tree is planted. A registration certificate and instructions in planting and care also go with the tree.

Many types of trees have been given but pine is "in" right now. Records show that Jacarandas have been the most popular with several varieties of orange trees running right behind.

At an "Open House" celebration recently, the firm distributed pine trees to nearly 500 guests. The guests have been sending in the record card as the trees have been planted. Presently, Monterey Pine (pinus radiata) and Italian Stone Pine (pinus pinea) have been given out in about equal number.

Crist, a member of the San Diego Floral Association Conservation and Tree Planting Committee, said that he will expand his tree gift-giving to readers of this publication.

Readers may apply to him at the Burnham Co. for gift trees. When he has received requests for one hundred trees, the trees will be ordered from the nursery. Less than 100—no deal.

It's a fine program that can do nothing but beautify Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, and the rest of the county—and the firm is to be commended for its effort and generosity.

The Supervisor's Approach

Henry Boney, supervisor of this district, has issued a newsletter to key government people and civic leaders in which he takes a realistic look at your problems—and his.

His no-nonsense attitude includes his admission that problems exist. He does not attempt to sweep troublesome matters under the carpet as though they were not there.

Some of the problems and the Boney approach to them are paraphrased and condensed here.

Cutting Cost of Government: "It is difficult for many to afford a home because of the ad valorem tax... an impossible burden for retired homeowner... on fixed income... completely destroys farming for profit."

Boney's solution: "During budget sessions I determined that cuts of nearly $1,000,000 could be made from the prosed budget. Finally, the Board supported my plan and $900,000 was cut."

The Transit Issue: "A curtailment of service and increasing fares required a workable alternative to the San Diego Transit System."

Boney's approach: "One group rallied behind the labor-oriented 'Schrade-Mills' Transit Act. The City of San Diego proposed a non-profit transit corporation. A third group, on which I served as chairman, included elected officials of seven cities, generally supported a 'joint powers' transit authority... I called several meetings between the three groups to attempt a single, co-operative move to solve the problem. The San Diego proposal was approved and City voters OK'd a tax override to acquire the San Diego Transportation System. Negotiations are now underway to do it."

Flood Control: "My district has probably the greatest flood hazard potential in the entire County."

Boney's Approach: "The Board of Supervisors agreed to support legislation creating a flood control district after I presented my district's problems. I appeared at the Assembly Water Committee hearing in Sacramento to ask support of a Flood Control Bill. Later both Houses passed the San Diego County Flood Control District Act as submitted by Assemblyman Dick Donovan during the special session and it has been signed into law. Many of my district's flood control problems can be solved by studies now under way."

Service Centers: Persons needing a building permit or a rezoning often have to visit three or four county departments to achieve this purpose.

Boney's approach: I have proposed the establishment of a one-stop service center at various county facilities. This proposal is now under study by the staff and may be implemented soon.

Reduction of Property Taxes: "Necessary, vital."

Boney's approach: "I obtained approval of the Board to conduct a comprehensive tax rate study with which we shall ask the Legislature to increase sales tax by a half a cent. The revenue is to be used directly to reduce property taxes. I, with Supervisor Austin, carried this resolution to the State meeting of the County Supervisors Association where we successfully got it adopted as a policy position. The Resolution is now under study by the new administration."

Dog Quarantine In Effect Here

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Rapidly spreading wildlife rabies led the Board of Supervisors Tuesday to support the action of County Health Director J. B. Askew in establishing a county-wide quarantine requiring that all dogs be restrained and not allowed to run at large.

Askew, who did not need action by the board because of his position as a state official as well as a local officer, said the quarantine would go into effect Jan. 1.

Dr. E. M. Bingham, assistant director, said that Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are buffer areas between the more heavily infested area to the east and quarantine here is one of the keys to controlling the disease.

James M. Moon, agricultural commissioner, told the board that there are eight trappers working in the county, four of them hired this month. They are attempted to thin out the fox population so that the fox to fox transmission of the fatal disease will no longer be possible.

Trappers have destroyed 1,168 wild animals since trapping started in earnest in May. Most of these were in the south central part of the county where rabies is considered epizootic.

The rabies infestation has gotten north to the Cuyamaca and Julian where three rabid animals have been found. County Veterinarian Dr. E. R. Quortrup said experts figure that when they find one rabid animal, the disease has already extended for ten miles.

The disease recently showed up in coyotes, animals which have a wide range. In all, 58 animals have been found with rabies in the outbreak since last spring. These include dogs, bobcats and skunks.

The quarantine regulation provides that "local" dogs, that is, those with rabies shot tags and licenses, are to be held for 30 days by the county if captured running loose. The cost is to be borne by the dog owner.

"Illegal" dogs, those with no identification, are to be held six months in the county pound before being returned to the owner, providing the dog was claimed at all.

Askew said keeping the dogs up will prevent them from being caught in one of the 2,400 traps the trappers are using. Moon said they have been caught often by the traps.

The regulation also gives the trappers the right to go on to private property without the permission of the owner.

It is not the rabid animal that is trapped, Quortrup said, because they change their behavior so much they cannot be trapped. He said there is no other known method of stopping a rabies epizootic excepting to thin-out the population of wildlife.

The quarantine will apparently even apply to a working dog use in herding cattle or hunting. It applies to all dogs even if they are on the property of their owners.

Local 'Johnny Appleseed' Takes Conservation Awards

Johnny Province is a young man with determination and vision.

He is concerned about pollution — pollution of air and pollution of water. He thought he ought to do something about it and he did.

He took on the character of Johnny Appleseed Jr. and he goes about handing out apples — and a circular of pollution.

It's remarkable because Johnny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Province, of 643 Cardiff, Lomita Village, is just 12 years old.

He designed the Johnny Appleseed Jr. dress by himself. His father, a sixth-grade teacher at Central Elementary school in National City pays for the apples. "All the rest is Johnny's idea," the father said.

Johnny's interest in conservation started even before he became a member of Audubon school's Scout troop 300. He became aware of the need for conservation about three years ago, his father said, and he has been constant in his interest.

During this time he attended the Skyline Wesleyan Methodist church where he studied, attended classes regularly, and performed the work necessary to earn the Scout's "God and Country" award. This honor was bestowed last January.

He won the Scout's coveted Hornaday Conservation Medal for his work on conservation projects. Few win the medal. The last one was awarded in San Diego County more than 25 years ago. Johnny won the award for participating in more than 120 conservation projects.

Johnny's interest in Scout projects is wide. He has already earned 20 merit badges — one each for a specified area of knowledge and ability. He needs only one more merit badge to qualify as an Eagle Scout. He will probably get this award as this article gets into print.

Johnny's conservation mentor is Charles Sweetwood, assistant State Forest Ranger in charge of fire prevention. Sweetwood said, "the young man has a wealth of conservation knowledge and it is amazing to hear him talk."

Sweetwood, a Scout counselor, aided the youth in setting up lectures, displays, showing films and putting together conservation information, said that Johnny's interest in conservation had been constant.

One year he made a "Smokey, the Bear" outfit and lectured on fire prevention in the forests," Sweetwood said. Johnny's father is particularly gratified with his son's projects. "I am pleased because he is continuing his work even after he acquired Scout's highest conservation citation — the Hornaday medal."

"He is not satisfied just to win awards, he wants to inform people," his father said. "He is to appear at the Scout Fair this summer; he will appear at the County Fair, and he will appear on television. He wants to get his conservation ideas over to one million people before he starts to 'retire'," his father said.

Johnny gained an additional honor during the past year. He visited the plant and office of this newspaper and got a lecture and a plant tour. As a result of this, he earned a brand new Scout award — the Golden Quill.

He's got a good chance of becoming a conservation editor for some big newspaper, the people at the newspaper shop say.

In any event, many fruitful paths are open to youngsters such as Johnny who have a happy combination of ability, sincerity, and determination of purpose.

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

"Buenos dias" is an expression we may have heard in Spanish. It could be translated as "Good days" if we were to refer to the dictionary and find the definition for each word. But practice and good usage tells us that "Buenos dias" (boo-EHN-nohs DEE-ahs) means "Good morning."

"Buenas tardes" (boo-EH-nahs TAHR-dehs) is a greeting expression used to say "Good afternoon." "Buenas noches" (boo-EH-nahs NOH-chehs) is a greeting expression used in the evening to say "Good night." This expression again may be slightly misleading to us if we refer to our dictionaries where we would find it to be in the plural form, "Good nights."

"Manana" has two specific meanings. It can mean "tomorrow" or it can mean "morning." So if you wish to say "tomorrow in the morning," you would say "Manana on la manana."

Now let's try saying some of these phrases aloud with the two-minute recorded voice. After reading over today's expressions, dial 276-2762 and listen to the voice say the words and expressions. Then you try to say the same words and expressions in the pauses provided. Don't postpone dialing and trying it for "manana."

Important Expressions:

Say "Buenos dias, Senorita" (boo-EH-nohs DEE-ahs seh-nohr-REE-tah)

for "Good morning, Miss." Say "Buenas tardes, Senor" (boo-EH-nahs TAHR-dehs seh-nohr) for "Good afternoon, Sir." Household Expressions:

Say "Buenas noches mi amor" (boo-EH-nahs NOH-chehs mee ah-MOHR) for "Good night my love."

Say "Hasta manana" (AH-stah mah-n-YAH-nah) for "Until tomorrow."

Travel Expressions: Say "Sale el tren manana?" (SAH-leh ehl trehn mah-n-YAH-nah)

"Does the train leave tomorrow?"

Say "Si sale manana en la manana" (see SAH-leh mah-n-YAH-nah ehn la mah-n-YAH-nah) for "Yes, it leaves tomorrow in the morning."

A man's mind may be so broad that it is often shallow.

The Story 'Slim Jim' -- Of a Beloved Horse

Lynn Warden

An article concerning a 33-year old Lemon Grove horse has been written by a local insurance man. The story will appear in the January issue of WESTERN COUNTRY, a horseman's magazine.

Lynn Warden, of 1844 Englewood Dr., Lemon Grove, is author of the story. He said he wrote the story because he was stirred by the unusual horse-human love affair it involved. Warden is an insurance adjuster for a National City firm.

The horse is Slim Jim, a 33-year old gelding belonging to Mrs. Rai Waske, a waitress in a Lemon Grove cafe, who lives at 3997 Marian, Vista La Mesa. She acquired Slim Jim 32 years ago when he was a mistreated, famished yearling.

When the horse died earlier this month, he was interred at the San Diego Pet Memorial Park, a sort of Forest Lawn for animals.

"He was a dearly beloved member of our family," Mrs. Waske said.

"Every morning for more than 30 years the old fellow would be looking at the back door with his ears up expectantly," Mrs. Waske said. "He loved us and we loved him."

She was given the horse by a Lemon Grove family, when another horse she owned was stolen. Because of the poor condition of Slim Jim, he couldn't be ridden often and later he was entered in shows. The family that gave the horse long since left Lemon Grove.

Mrs. Waske, herself a sentimental, acquired a mare for Slim Jim 22 years ago.

"The old mare tried to lift Jim off the ground with her nose when he became ill," she said. "She kept pulling the blanket off him, whimpering to get up. When that failed she stuck her muzzle under him to help him off the ground. 'She will die very soon now,' Mrs. Waske said. 'Her heart is broken.'"

The cost of the burial of Jim—up to now has topped $500. There will be some other expenses such as the tombstone and perpetual care of the grave," she said.

"When the mare dies she will be buried in a plot next to Jim," she added. "We have already made arrangements."

The sentimental story Warden wrote about Jim follows:

By Lynn Warden
On Tuesday, December 13, 1966, Slim Jim, a 33-year-old chestnut gelding was laid to rest in eternal peace at San Diego Pet Memorial Park. Thus, an ending to the final chapter of a truly great love story between a horse and its owners; a story that took over three decades to write.

Slim Jim, fondly referred to as "The Old Man" or just plain "Jimmy" was of American Saddle-Bred stock. He was sired and foaled at Corte Madera Ranch in the Eastern San Diego County.

Jim's early life was shaky and sometimes very much in doubt. Sickness and undernourishment plagued him as a yearling. He was in need of constant care and, perhaps more than anything else, love. Jim's good fortune, his story, and his very being actually began at this point.

Mrs. Rai Waske of Vista La Mesa, California found, fell in love with, and acquired the skinny yearling. In view of the dreadful condition, the name Slim Jim just naturally fit. However, after two years of proper care and attention, the "Slim" portion of his name began to look like a misnomer and was subsequently forgotten. Upon his acquisition (and to his final day), Jim was the personal horse, companion and pet of his new owner.

As a three-year-old, Jim had attained much of his full growth and normal strength. In succeeding years, his life included horse shows, parades, and rodeos throughout San Diego County. During this time, many treasured experiences and never-to-be-forgotten.

ten pleasures were shared by horse and owner. Only those who qualify as true horse-lovers can fully understand the affectionate bond of trust and devotion that forms the very backbone of this story.

No, perhaps Slim Jim was not a champion thoroughbred or even a champion show-horse. Nevertheless, you may be assured that he was a champion. In western vernacular, horsemen often refer to a particular horse as having "heart" or "bottom". Whatever this comprises, the "Old Man" had his share of it. To children and grown-ups alike, Jim was a symbol. Everyone knew of his stout heart, his valiant spirit, his courage and gentle nature. He never failed to nicker a greeting or offer a warm nuzzle as a reward to those who brought him carrots, apples or assorted greenery.

SERVICE NOTES

PRIVATE AYER
Marine Private Thomas E. Ayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan J. Ayer of 3277 Massachusetts Ave., Lemon Grove, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Great Lakes, Illinois. He will now undergo about combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects; hygiene; first aid and sanitation; and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join Marine combat forces.

SEAMAN RECRUIT STAMP
Seaman Recruit Robert W. Stamp, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Stamp of 10237 Del Rio Road, Spring Valley, is undergoing nine weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center Great Lakes, Ill.

He is receiving instructions in Naval customs, courtesies and organization, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship, damage control, first aid, swimming and survival, shipboard drills and sentry duty.

A program of physical fitness, military drill and inspections keeps the recruits mentally and physically alert during their training.

His Navy Classification tests will determine whether he will be assigned to a school, shore station or ship after his graduation.

PRIVATE BERRY
Army Private Rav M. Berry, 20, son of Mrs. Gertrude J. Berry, 320 North B Street, Poplar Bluff, Mo., was assigned to 1 Field Force Vietnam Artillery, at Nha Trang, Vietnam, December 9.

A wireman in the force's Headquarters Battery, Pvt. Berry entered on active duty last April and was last stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif.

STOREKEEPER 1ST CLASS MARTIN L. RUSH
Storekeeper First Class Martin L. Rush, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rush of Star Route, Spring Valley, has returned from a two-month tour of duty on board the USS Ulysses S. Grant.

The Grant returned to its operating base in Guam, Marianas Islands, for a short refitting and relief of crew. After being relieved by the "Blue Crew," the "Gold Crew" went to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii for rest and recreation. Before returning to the Grant, men of the "Gold Crew" will undergo refresher training at the Fleet Submarine Training Facility, Pearl Harbor.

The two-crew concept is used for the Polaris missile submarines so that the submarine can remain on her underwater deterrent patrol station for a maximum period of time.

San Diego Open Winner To Get Record $13,200
Whoever wins the 15th annual San Diego PGA Open will get more in prize money than the entire field divided in the inaugural tournament in 1952.

San Lind, tournament director, said today the winner of the 1967 San Diego Open scheduled for Jan. 17-18 at Star Country Club, will win $13,200.

The players' purse in the first San Diego Open was just $10,000. Ted Kroll, the winner, got just $2,000.

Even second place money—$7,920—will easily exceed the top prize of $5,800 won last January here by Billy Casper.

Lind said the record $66,000 purse will be distributed among the top 50 finishers with the first 17 getting $1,000 or more.

Leading of the '67 PGA tour, the Open looms as the best in history, with eight of the first ten 1966 money winners already in, including Casper, No. 1 in '66 with $121,944.

The other seven are Doug Sanders, Gay Brewer, Phil Rodgers, Gene Littler, R. H. Sikes, Frank Beard and A. Geiberger.

SERGEANT CLUFF
Howard R. Cluff, whose mother, Mrs. Marguerite Buis, lives in Winkelman, Ariz., has been promoted to technical sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sergeant Cluff is a budgeter at a U.S. Air Force support unit at Istanbul Air Station, Turkey.

The Phoenix (Ariz.) Union High School graduate attended the University of Arizona. His father, Glen T. Cluff, lives in Hayden, Ariz.

Sergeant Cluff's wife, Annabelle, is the daughter of Mrs. C. R. Spencer of 8609 Bigford St., Spring Valley.

LM Camera Club Sets First Meeting of '66
La Mesa Camera Club announces the first meeting of the new year will be Tuesday evening, January 3, 8:00 p.m. at Porter Hall, 8425 University Avenue, La Mesa.

The new officers will assume their duties at this meeting. Recently installed are: Mr. Art Ariessohn, president, Mr. Walter Dornbusch, vice-president, and Mrs. Georgia Munroe, secretary-treasurer.

The chief product, he said, will be a new framework setting forth the sequence and depth of instruction. Textbook adoptions and course outlines for the '70s will be based on the framework.

In 1963 the board adopted textbooks based largely on the "new math" and indicated the program would be evaluated once it was well established. The books for grades 1, 2 and 7 reached classrooms in 1964, while those for grades 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 arrived in 1965.

Most advertising is honest, but beware of the occasional wild claim of "worth" or "value." Your Better Business Bureau reminds you that an item's true value is the price for which it sells in the area, not some fictitious "manufacturer's list price" or inflated figure dreamed up by the advertiser. Take time to check comparative prices of major items at a number of local stores, and if in doubt check with the BBB at 1608 Fourth Avenue, San Diego, for a fact report on the advertiser.

YOUR DOLLARS

The small businessman reads about forecasts concerning the general economic picture, but he has a problem relating his business decisions to the prospects for the whole economy.

He may well wish that somehow someone would pin it all down — what should each of us be doing right now to get ready with the new year?

Such a check-list for judgment was presented recently before the National Industrial Conference Board in New York, and the 10 points made before that audience should prod individuals and institutions into the proper stance to cope with the events ahead.

The points were made by Walter Hoadley, Chief Economist for Bank of America, who sees 1967 as a year of "pock-marked prosperity and lots of action." His suggestions are simple, direct, and to the point.

Points Given

1. Prepare ourselves and our colleagues for a year of brief psychological shocks, always remembering that the underlying strength of our economy precludes a serious general downturn in 1967.

2. Ask ourselves pointedly how much of the gains we've experienced in 1966 and recent years are really the result of our individual efforts and not the result of the broad expansion in the economy and our markets. How good are we on our own?

3. Locate ourselves in 1967's pock-marked prosperity. Will we be in a profit "poverty pocket"? On a private market prosperity perch? Or in an area of government generated growth? Our strategy and tactics should be different in each case.

4. Make a preliminary profit projection for 1967 very soon and ask what a 4 percent corporate tax boost would do for you. If you're going to start some new cost cutting or other program sooner or later why not get started now and avoid a meat axe approach later?

5. Recheck every aspect of your finances and be alert to possible financial weaknesses which always become exposed in periods of tight money. (In any year gamblers have a tough time getting into heaven, but don't even try it in '67.) If you will forgive a small commercial a this point — this is an excellent time to carefully review your finances with your banker — such a review will be to your mutual benefit.

6. Stretch out your planning and forecasting so as to develop more underlying strength should you get hit by temporary market weaknesses.

7. Spend some time answering the question, "What effort would a cease-fire in Vietnam have on our business?"

8. Take a positive stand on all political and economic questions. Insist upon a balanced approach to our national economic overheating problems and keep Washington well posted on any signs of cooling or reheating in your field.

10. Be optimistic toward 1967 — but realistic too!
